A shout out to Quiltfolk, publisher of a magazine by the same name. They also sell books, patterns, gifts, virtual tours and more from their website, www.quiltfolk.com. Nifty Needles is participating in their Guild program. At the Christmas party two members received copies of their magazine about South Dakota quilts in their goodie bags, and in February two more members received their 2023 calendars as door prizes.

Please check out their website, and if you wish to place an order, Guild members receive 15% off through March 31. Just enter GUILD 25 to receive your discount.

Nifty Needles Quilt Guild Meeting Minutes, February 28, 2023

The January meeting was canceled due to bad weather.

The meeting was called to order by Dani D'Arge.
There were 17 members and guests present.

Treasurer's report from Cheryl Royalty.
Bank balance as of 02/27/23 $1561.92
Door prize balance as of 02/27/23 $88.50

This month's door prize of Quiltfolk 2023 calendar, thread and chocolate was won by Wanda Cole.

December 2022 minutes were approved as submitted.

This month's guest speaker was Chana Charley from Quilters Square.
Her highly informative program covered borders and binding.

Our raffle quilt is progressing nicely. All blocks need to be completed by August.
The pattern and fabric are available at the extension office.

A big thank you to Levana Spencer for teaching the class on folded ornaments.
Kathy Previs has offered to teach a class on making a decorative wreath using fat quarters and a Styrofoam wreath.

We also anticipate a class on collage quilts. This year is starting to get busy!

Words of wisdom from Kay Denniston.

The annual homemakers meeting is April 20, 2023.

Kay requested volunteers to help with 4-H beginning sewing classes.

Starting Wednesday March 15 until June 1st. Class time is 3:00 – 5:00.

You can help with one class or several!

Respectfully submitted,

Sharon Crump,

Secretary

A NOTE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Hello fellow quilters,

March is National Quilt Month, and March 18 is National Quilt Day. Several quilting communities host “Quilters Day Out,” an event that usually includes all the things quilters love—lots of quilts to admire and inspire, food, possibly a speaker or class, connection with fellow quilters, and, of course, shopping. There are several events scheduled statewide, including those in Lexington, Morehead and Burlington.

If you attend a “Quilter’s Day Out” gathering, there is going to be something to catch your eye, something new or something you learn. Take a mental note of it, and so we can share what we learned at our next meeting.

This is your Guild. What would you like to do in the coming year?

Regards,

Shirley
